Why Trading?

Nowadays, financial independence and/or resiliency is hard to come by. With people living paycheck to paycheck and enduring economic fallout, there's little time to focus on friends and loved ones. Instead, they're glued to their desks to ensure they're taken care of but at the risk of alienating themselves from their personal lives.

If there was an option to make a steady income while still being there for the people that need you, wouldn't you like to have it? That's what's made trading so appealing and why it's grown steadfast in popularity over the years. Why is that? For one, predictable patterns of volatility and global economic events make it so there are always opportunities for profits. Secondly, being able to trade virtually anywhere with an internet connection is to those that prefer to work from home or are always on the go.

However, that doesn't mean you can just jump in and immediately make profits. Lack of experience is one of the major reasons most traders, over 90%, fail within the first two years of their investing journey.

It takes time and patience to become a profitable trader, and that's where Trader on the Street comes in. We can help guide you on your own path to financial independence. And you could be next to get a share in the profits at our trading rally.

The Origins of the Rally

Trader on the Street was built on a simple premise: make more in one hour than most make in an entire day their 9 to 5 job. Regardless of any past investing experience, you can learn how to trade, and generate passive income over time.

Shawn Lucas, host and founder of Trader on the Street, saw what economic recession did to people's livelihoods. And so, he set out with his years of experience in the markets and with some of the biggest brokers in the world to teach people the lifelong value of trading currencies.

The goal of a trading rally is to take new and old traders and fully immerse them into trading. What better way to learn how to trade than by watching a trading guru live?

What Is a Rally?

Technically, in trading terms, a rally is a prolonged period of volatility in the markets characterized by sharp, quick movement to the upside or downside. A Trader on the Street rally is a trading experience unlike any other. In just one day, you get to experience the ups and downs of volatile markets. And you can discover the thrill of making quick buy and sell decisions in real time, overcoming the pitfalls of novice traders. In other words, it's a trading marathon of non-stop, capital-generating investing, where those who attend get a share of the profits made by Shawn Lucas.

It's an opportunity to immerse yourself in the high stakes world of trading. You can dive deep into how elite traders analyze and increase their ROI. And you get to do this live, with no filters and no filler, learning from the best in the business of trading.

What Will I Learn?

First and foremost, you will learn tried and true trading strategies and techniques our crack team of traders use, including legendary trader, Shawn Lucas. But the most important part of our rallies is to help you develop your trading skills. Trader on the Street's goal is to foster and nurture traders of all skill levels to the point where they will feel confident to tackle the markets on their own.

The strategies taught in our rallies are yours to keep and implement into your own trading. And the Trader on the Street team stands by these approaches to the markets because they use them every day. It's made them consistent and successful, that could be you. So, how does it work?

The great thing about our rallies is that you don't have to leave the comfort of your own home. As an online rally, you can learn how to trade no matter where you are in the world. Traders can learn at their own pace and follow along live as Shawn Lucas takes the reins and battles and conquers market volatility.

What's in It for Me?

Just by attending the Rally, you're immediately one of the lucky Taproom members to get their own share of the profits Shawn Lucas generates in the entire session. Every single trader that attends the rally gets their own check to take home with them.

Apart from real money in your pocket, what you'll learn from this trading crash course will prepare you for a lifetime of profitable trading. In just one rally, you'll be armed with the tools to get started. But of course, traders need to constantly evolve their perspective on the markets if they want to stay consistent.

So, the Trader on the Street Taproom is here to help you. With a huge library of trading content, as well as live daily courses, and weekly sessions with Shawn Lucas, the Taproom has what you need to thrive in any market conditions. Plus, it's all available to you at the click of a button. Visit traderonthestreet.com to get started.

About the Host

Shawn Lucas started his financial career working with some of the biggest brokerage firms in the world like Charles Schwab and Fidelity. After seeing the fallout of the 2008 economic recession, Shawn set out to instruct everyday people on how trading can help them overcome financial hurdles. With his other ventures, like the Apiary Fund, he's helped thousands of people attain their financial goals.

What Our Traders Have to Say

One of the greatest things about Trader on the Street and our rallies is the opportunity to connect with like-minded traders. They all have the goal of achieving financial independence, and you can exchange ideas and form partnerships with these people whenever you want.

Thousands of traders have followed Shawn and his teachings through Trader on the Street. And all have sung praises about what they learned, how they learned it, and what Trader on the Street has given to their everyday lives.

About the Host

His expertise in technical and economic analysis allows him to quickly predict market sentiment, and set up his trades for consistent success. He has spent over 20 years perfecting his craft, and is very eager to share his knowledge with the world for anyone that wants to learn.

Now, he's hosting these popular trading rallies so that every new trader can get a firsthand experience into how trading works. And he's here to guide them along the way into financial prosperity.

“My motivation behind trading is to try to do something else, open my mind, learn something different and change some things that I do now. Everything is going great, and I have the help if I need it. I’ve never seen so many consistent wins in trading with Shawn. I’m going to take what I learned back home and be able to be a better trader.”

Tim T.

“Never traded before, no experience in actual trading. I’ve loved it. to me, trading is like golf. If I’m going to succeed I need to learn it, and I need to do it the right way. I love the challenge of it. For the first couple of months, I was trying to define what resonates with me the most. Now, I have no doubt I can be a profitable trader, and make money trading. It’s given me some great tools to manage my money as a trader.”

Bernardo B.

“That balancing act. That was every eye opening. To see it in person, it was like WOW.’ It gave me a better understanding of how he’s doing, why he’s doing it, and how to do it myself. It shows me that it’s something you can do, you can learn, and you can apply. The teachers that are around us are very good. The check part was even better. We weren’t expecting that. Each of us came out with a check, it was very exciting.”
